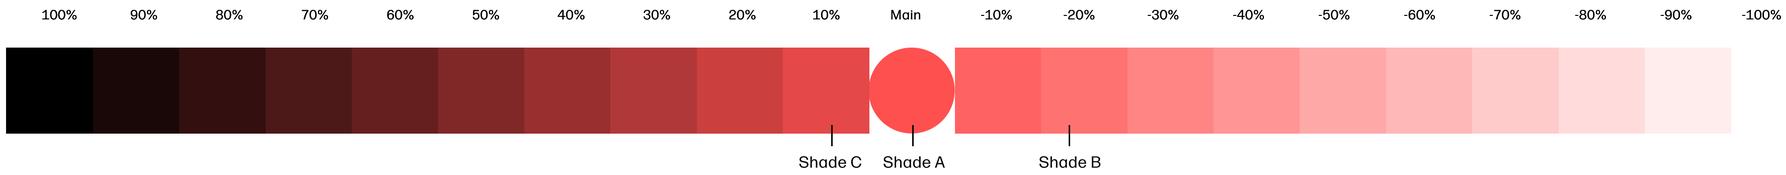
Highlighting Single Words with Orange Bloom

To ensure the legibility of Orange Bloom, specific calibrations and shades have been defined according to the application and corresponding medium.

Three Select Shades of Orange Bloom Variations for Use in Keywords



Shade A (Main)

Shade A is the primary color for Orange Bloom. It is used for text and buttons on a white background.

Background:

White

Button

Aa

Apply Shade A to highlight keywords in titles and subtitles. Minimum text size: 10 pt.

3.2

Text contrast ratio result.

Values

HEX
FF5050

Shade B

Use Shade B for highlighting keywords in titles and subtitles over images.

Use Shade B on darker photos.

Background:

Darker

Aa

Avoid sizes smaller than 14 pt. Minimum size: 10 pt.

5.3

Text contrast ratio result.

Values

HEX
FF7373

Shade C

Use Shade C for highlighting keywords in titles and subtitles over images.

Apply Shade C on lighter photos.

Background:

Lighter

Aa

Avoid sizes smaller than 14 pt. Minimum size: 10 pt.

4.2

Text contrast ratio result.

Values

HEX
E54848

The application of Orange Bloom on text may vary depending on the background it will be use over. If the background is a photo or a solid dark background, we use Orange Bloom Shade B. And if the background is a photo or a lighter solid background, use Orange Bloom Shade C.

Please note that specifications for digital environments should be revised properly by considering UX/UI usability.